

The motion to prevent ISP's from using Qwest lines is yet another example of large corporations attempting to control their customers. I believe I deserve the right to chose my ISP, especially in light of the generally poor service I have received from Qwest as a telephone provider. There is no other broadband option available in my area; I wish to continue to be able to use the ISP of my choice; and I do not believe that Qwest's unregulated DSL pricing would continue to be fair since there is no other DSL provider in my area.
